

Michelle Banks-Spearman, Esq. Assistant City Attorney

Michelle Banks-Spearman serves as an Assistant City Attorney with the Camden City Attorney's Office. Ms. Banks-Spearman focuses primarily in the area of real estate and municipal tax. During her 30-year tenure with the Law Department, Ms. Banks-Spearman has served as the legal advisor to the Tax Collector, Tax Assessor, Division of Housing Services, Division of City Properties, the Long Term Tax Exemption Committee, the Lien Review Committee, Affirmative Action Review Committee and the Camden Redevelopment Agency. As part of that representation Ms. Banks-Spearman has coordinated real property acquisitions and sales, lease preparation, tax appeals, tax exemption determinations, in rem tax foreclosures and condemnations.

Ms. Banks-Spearman is a graduate of Camden High School. She received her Bachelor of Science in Government from Harvard University. She holds a Juris Doctor from Columbia University Law School and a Master of Science in Urban Planning from Columbia University School of Architecture and Urban Planning.